

Upper 4 discovering the delights of French cuisine

Upper 4 have recently been learning about food in French and as it is such an important part of French culture (and we just like food!), the pupils spent a lesson researching what types of food the French eat. We started with the mealtimes and there was quite a bit of discussion as to whether a croissant or a pain au chocolat was better and then we moved onto the different dishes, types of cheese and regional specialities. There was much discussion about the difference between a croque monsieur and a croque madame and what exactly do snails taste like.

Above we have Izzy and Matthew doing their own research and Jacob giving his presentation to the rest of the class.
