

UKMT Junior Maths Challenge

The UKMT run national competitions each year designed to stretch and challenge students across the country. This year the Junior Mathematical Challenge was actually held during the national lockdown and we were delighted to be able to facilitate our students competing remotely. The thresholds for achieving certificates this year were significantly higher than normal but, despite this, I am very pleased to announce that six of our students were successful in being awarded the highly prized UKMT certificates. Maddie Lee, Ruqaiya Adeel, Amelia Butler and Jamie Cooper all achieved Bronze Certificates and Amy Qin was awarded a Silver.

Congratulations to all!
