

A trip to the zoo!

On the last day of term, Transition had a special treat – a trip to Yorkshire Wildlife Park!

Despite the miserable, drizzly weather, the children (and teachers) all had a wonderful time.

As soon as we arrived, we headed straight to see the polar bears. They must have heard that we were coming and were all prepared to meet us – one was even having a little play with his canoe! The children found it very interesting that the bears didn't look white and were able to have a good guess at why this might be (I wonder if anyone can remember?).

We were then really lucky to meet one of the park's new arrivals – a rare Roloway monkey which popped out with its mum for a run round in the rain!

Before heading back to school, we managed to have a play of our own in the fantastic adventure playground – where the children showed off some of their own climbing skills! A quick ice lolly rounded off the trip nicely.

After such a busy day, there were lots of sleepy children on the coach on the way home!
