

Celebrating differences

This half term, our 'Jigsaw' (PSHE) lessons are all about celebrating our differences. Over the next few weeks, Transition will create their own, unique gingerbread people – complete with clothing that shows our; similarities, differences and what makes us a kind friend.

This week, we looked at what made us similar to our friends. The children talked about how they might be the same age, have the same hair colour, go to the same school or like the same TV programme.

The children worked in pairs and designed T-shirts for our gingerbread people that showed the ways that they were similar to each other. This has resulted in some amazing similar (but still unique) work - well done Transition!
