

Technology and business

Upper 6 students recently delivered some outstanding presentations on the impact of technology on a chosen industry. Their PowerPoint presentations were informative and well planned. One group gave us an insight into how the supermarket industry extensively utilised technology, and we discussed the merits and problems of Amazon's technologically advanced stores, Amazon Go. The fast-food industry gave many examples of large brands, such as Dominos and McDonalds, using technology to improve customer services and customer satisfaction. Students showed excellent communication skills and answered questions from the floor, with confidence and fluency.
