

Arctic art

Transition's topic this half term is 'Polar Explorers!'. In our humanities lessons, children will be learning all about the Arctic and Antarctic. We will explore what life is like in these places and compare it to life in the United Kingdom. The children will learn about the animals that live in the polar regions and investigate the similarities and differences between the two places.

Our art projects this half term will follow the polar regions theme and today we looked at the cold colours associated with the Arctic. We mixed paints to make different shades of blue that we are going to use next week to create our own igloo mosaics!
