

Transition are 'polar explorers'

This half term the children in Transition have been 'polar explorers' and have been learning all about life in the Arctic and Antarctic. This week the children learnt all about Inuit people and the clothes they wear to keep warm. They also learnt about the snow goggles they wear to protect their eyes from the sun reflecting on the snow. The children then made some snow goggles and were surprised at how well they could see of out them! They then decorated some biscuits like Lars who is the polar bear who got lost in the jungle (We have been learning about him in English!) We then finished the week by wrapping up warm and enjoying story time outside with some hot chocolate thanks to Chef Wayne!
