

Pupils create & present a PowerPoint about their hero

This half term in PSHE, pupils have been asked to create a presentation about their hero. The assignment was to teach their audience about their chosen hero, what they have achieved in their life, as well as what qualities their hero has that makes them inspirational.

Agatha, in Lower 4, selected Maddie Hinch, an English field hockey player who played as a goalkeeper for Tilburg HC and England, as well representing Great Britain on our national team.

When asked why she chose Maddie, Agatha said: "Maddie Hinch is my hero because she inspires me to improve my hockey skills. I believe sport is a good way to maintain both physical and mental health. Her gold and bronze medals remind me to always try my best and continue to work hard and be resilient".

Pupils selected a wide array of different figures to focus their presentations on included civil rights leaders, sports players, artists, musicians and political figures. This assignment lets pupils build their confidence and refine their presentations skills. Giving pupils a chance to speak about individuals that mean a lot to them gives our learners their own platform to inspire their peers.
