iDEA bronze awards achieved in computer science

Previously known as the Duke of York awards, the iDEA (Inspiring Digital Enterprise Award) awards are essentially the Computer Science version of the DoE awards and work similarly where you can achieve bronze, silver and gold.

This half term two pupils achieved their bronze awards making them the first in their respective year groups to do so. This took a lot of hard work outside and inside lessons to achieve and they're already hard at work on their silver awards. This is a great award that can go on their CVs when the time comes!

Well done Isobel and Balraj!
