Science week

This week Reception have taken an active part in British Science Week. We talked about what an experiment is and how they are conducted. We also learnt new vocabulary and have written predictions. Our first experiment focused on using our sense of smell. The children had to identify different scents which included; marshmallow, lavender, peppermint, lemon, ginger, marmite, brown sauce, marmalade and ketchup. Marshmallow was the most popular choice!

We have also explored ice, created a lava lamp and made giant bubbles outside!
