

Upper 5 French revise for their GCSE writing exams

In Upper 5 French lessons this half term, pupils have spent their time working through an assortment of questions from past papers from the GCSE French writing examination.

Pupils have chosen which particular type of question that they have wanted to work on and practise each lesson. They had the choice of 90 word questions, translation into French and describing a photo. These types of questions all feature on the GCSE French writing examinations.

When pupils finished working on a question, they have received detailed feedback with reference to the relevant mark schemes and, as a result, all pupils have been able to improve the technique and language during our revision sessions.

Next week, those pupils who are planning on sitting the Higher Tier papers will have the opportunity to challenge themselves and work on a range of 150-word past questions too.
