

Flat Stanley arrives

Upper 1 have been reading 'Flat Stanley' by Jeff Brown in their English lessons. During the story, Stanley travels to California in an envelope, so we each decided to create a Stanley of our own and send him by post.

We carefully wrote some letters explaining who Stanley was, and then sent him off. This week, we have started to receive some replies as Stanley has reached various destinations. So far, he has been to the Netherlands, Canada and has even fallen into the machine at a sticker factory!

Fortunately, he was returned with a big box of stickers for the children to share. We excitedly await news of more of Stanley's adventures...
