

Enterprising Upper 3

We've had a busy start to the term in the business department. We have launched a new BTEC course at Sixth Form level; the BTEC National Extended Certificate in Business is equivalent to one A Level and is assessed through a mixture of coursework and exams. This has proved to be very popular with students and can be combined with other A levels or CTECs.

In addition to the new course, we have also got a new member of staff! Mrs Woods has joined the department and comes with a wealth of knowledge of a range of courses.

As part of their induction, Upper 3 worked with Lower 6 to create a new product which they pitched to a panel of 'Dragons'. I was so impressed with their ideas and enterprise skills that we awarded three prizes. Lower 6 showed great leadership skills during the activity and supported their house groups excellently; a great workshop was had by all.
