

Candlelight and creativity: Upper 2 take a 'workhouse' trip without the grit!

In Upper 2, the children have loved learning about Street Child this half term. They have been working hard to understand what life would have been like for children living in a workhouse in Victorian times. To put themselves in Jim Jarvis' shoes, they have written a diary entry this week, of a day in the life in the workhouse. To create the most realistic atmosphere we could, the children wrote their diaries by candlelight! They have produced some excellent pieces of writing and we are excited to see what they continue to produce this year.
