

Twilight concert for strings, woodwind and brass

We had our third twilight concert on Thursday and this time it was the turn of strings, woodwind and brass. It was such a lovely event and I was so proud to hear all our instrumentalists play with such accuracy and confidence. Special thanks to our peri staff for preparing them so wonderfully and for performing to us also.

Scroll down for some action photos from the concert - apologies for missing out some of the performers but the majority are featured below.

Watch out for the next concert in this series, which takes place on in March and will focus on the drum kit and guitar.

Mr Ian Lenihan

