

World Book Day in Transition

Transition really went all-out with some fantastic costumes for World Book Day last week. We had everything from Harry Potter to Matilda to Mirabelle Starspell to a Stormtrooper!

The children had the opportunity to talk about their costumes and why they had chosen to be a particular character. They discussed what they liked about their character and the stories they were from.

We had the opportunity to take part in the 'Guess the Teacher' quiz – some of which proved to be quite tricky. Then some of us took on the gorilla in goal at breaktime!

Throughout the day, we read lots of stories and each child made a special bookmark to take home. What a wonderful day!
