

Lower 1 become budding journalists

In our recent English lessons, Lower 1 have been exploring a wide range of newspaper articles. We've been identifying key features that all newspapers share, such as headlines, dates, pictures and captions and understanding how these help to inform and engage readers.

Building on this knowledge, the children planned and wrote their own detailed newspaper articles. They worked hard to ensure they answered the five essential Ws: Who, What, When, Where, and Why—just like real reporters!

We are incredibly proud of the enthusiasm, creativity and effort they put into their writing. Their finished articles about the moon landing are absolutely fantastic—well done Lower 1!
