

Lower 4W's paper plane challenge

Following on from our origami craze, the latest challenge in Form Time was to create, and fly, the best possible paper plane. There were numerous designs, some incredibly sophisticated and a few, like mine, which looked like they'd never fly! At the pre-testing stage things went very well, there were high levels of confidence leading to a good deal of tension before the final fly-off. Congratulations to Nouri and Will who won the first and second rounds respectively; an honourable mention for Sophie who came third on both occasions.
